Points to Consider Costs of Drug Activity in Rental Property

When drug criminals and other destructive tenants operate out of rental property, neighborhoods suffer and landlords pay a high price.

That price may include:

- Decline in property values – particularly when the activity begins affecting the reputation of a neighborhood.
- Property damage arising from abuse, retaliation or neglect; property damage from police raids.
- Fire resulting from manufacturing or grow operations.
- Civil penalties, including temporary closure of the property – or even property seizure.
- Loss of rent during the eviction and repair periods.
- Fear and frustration when dealing with dangerous and threatening tenants.
- Increased resentment and anger between neighbors and property managers.
- The loss of the valued tenants.
